Chanel No.5 is a beautiful dark red baldy female who is sired by the red outcross bull, from Hanewich Cattle Co that sired the 2014 Farm Show Grand Champion female. Her dam is a dark red Built Right daughter who is out of a Silvertowne Farms female. Chanel No.5 is a deep bodied, nice necked and very eye appealing female, so that no matter whether you are a junior looking for your next show heifer or someone looking for a top notch brood cow she will catch your attention and the attention of everyone else, including the judge! She has a very sweet disposition and if shown she would get you into a different division with her birthdate. Be sure to look up this gorgeous red head on sale day because she has a tremendous amount to offer to your program now and for years to come. Greg Stewart

This heifer carries the meat it takes to make money and she has the length and depth she needs to make a cow. Clean fronted and feminine. This heifer is one of the youngest and has had no problem competing with the biggest and oldest calves in the crop. The productive merit of the females in her family make her the kind of cow you need to build a herd that will stand the test of time without any pampering. She is a TNT Tanker granddaughter and like all the Tanker progeny. She is from one of the oldest cow families on our farm - which means her family has done everything right for generations. I purchased her grandmother in 1995 with money from a 4-H project as an investment in the beef business. This family produces low input, high output money making mommas.

Cashew has an extremely feminine head and neck, and is very deep and modern in type. With her width of base, long stride, and nice level hip, she is the type for breed longevity. This heifer will be a moderate framed cow. She is from one of the most productive and fertile cow families I have ever owned in my 20 years of raising and breeding beef cattle. Cashew comes from a strong, consistent cow family. The females in this family are easy keeping and require no special treatment. They carry flesh from calving to weaning and are always a topic of discussion when visitors are here viewing cows.
